

The MFEWS

Central America Weather Hazards Assessment

for

September 8 - 14, 2005

Hazards Assessment Text Explanation:

Interior portions of Guatemala and much of El Salvador experienced a very wet August as many locations had 400 mm or more of rainfall. Thus far in September this trend has continued and the forecast for the upcoming period calls for more moderate rainfall. Widespread impacts are not expected but localized flooding and landslides are possible.

AUTHOR: John M Dickens