

The USAID FEWS-NET

Haiti Weather Hazards and Benefits Assessment

For
September 21 – 27, 2006

Hispaniola had a normal first season, and thus far the second has been near normal. Regular rainfall has fallen on the island with satellite estimated rainfall totals ranging from over 500 mm on the interior of the island to more than 100 mm on the periphery.

